

Transform your business with a smart information system from Wild Bamboo.

Introducing Recordbase

Recordbase is a PRIMHD compliant information management system. It is the number one choice in information management for New Zealand's non-government mental health and addiction providers.

With a number of super smart features, Recordbase transforms service planning and customer outcomes by:

- generating a number of reports at the touch of a button
- providing an outcomes assessment and measurement framework
- meeting PRIMHD reporting compliance requirements
- providing powerful data security
- ensuring consistent reporting practices; and
- saving you time and money!

Recordbase has been PRIMHD compliant since 2008.

We understand PRIMHD requirements and work closely with you and the Ministry of Health to ensure you achieve compliancy. When you choose Recordbase you also get our Ministry of Health approved secure connection to PRIMHD, and the convenience of having your monthly PRIMHD reports organised for you.

One smart information system

Recordbase is an easy to use, feature-rich information management system that's web-based.

There's no need to invest in expensive IT equipment. Simply log on to Wild Bamboo's website and have bank-level secure access to all your information, reporting and planning tools.

Recordbase is highly configurable. Its modular design allows you to enable or disable features that are relevant to your organisation. Its flexibility lets you to customise reporting and language.

Recordbase captures, catalogues and reports on a wide variety of information. Including extensive customer details, goal setting and action planning, risk management, medical history, appointments and scheduling, an outcomes assessment and measurement framework, and incidents and accidents, to name a few!

There are some basic requirements. You'll need to have broadband access, internet Explorer 7.0 or greater and basic IT skills.

Developed by the sector for the sector

Wild Bamboo is New Zealand's only mental health charitable software development company. We're also part of the WISE Group – a family of non-government organisations operating in the mental health sector. We've spent 20 years developing smart information systems to support our work and now, through Wild Bamboo, we are able to share this tool with other organisations at very cost effective prices.
